MINDSHARE DEVICE

Network yourself to the next golden age with Blackmoore Industries' new mindshare device! Our proactive technology allows aspects of one user's mind to be transferred to another in a way that will optimize humanity's productivity to its fullest potential. Imagine if you could write like Shakespeare or paint like Michelangelo! This fantasy has finally become a reality for individuals all across the globe. Meanwhile, artists no longer need to struggle financially. They can simply cultivate and sell their talents for instantaneous profit!

The process is simple and painless. Artists upload samples of skills they are willing to sell to our databank, where the skills will be processed and added to our online catalogue, sorted by type and asking price, which our clients are free to browse at any time. Once both parties are ready to complete the deal, they will connect to GlobeComm using the appropriate headgear. One of our highly-skilled operators will be present to answer any last minute questions and initiate the transferal process, which only takes a matter of seconds to complete. Afterwards, the artist and client may experience a light tingling sensation in the cranial area for approximately five minutes before the feeling subsides.

Because customer satisfaction is a key trademark of Blackmoore Industries, we have also teamed up with a top-knotch consulting office in order to provide a smoother service for artists who wish to improve their status. Our representatives will be available 24/7 to offer invaluable advice and assistance so our artists can invest their newly made income into profitable sectors of the economy.

Investors and interested potential participants are invited to attend online conferences held at GlobeComm, and to connect with Ryan Blackmoore, president of Blackmoore Industries, through his Facebook page at:
